To-Day's Encouraging Bulletins

The Bulletin to the Cabinet Officers The following is a copy of the bulletin sent to each of the Cabinet officers this morning:

July 14, 8 a. m.

My Dear Sir: The favorable symptoms in the President's condition continue. He passed a very comfortable night, and this morning his pulse is 90, and his temperature a little below 100.

The doctors this morning express themselves as satisfied with the progress of the case. The wound has just been dressed and the dressing showed that there had been a good discharge of pus from the drainage pipe. Very truly yours,

J. STANLEY BROWN,

Private Secretary.

Surgeon Hamilton's Opinion. A dispatch from New York says: Con-sulting Surgeon Hamilton says that what were ordinarily considered by surgeons as great crises in such wounds as President Garfield's were now things of the past, and he had confidence the President would he had confidence the President would continue to mend.

Dr. Hamilton evidently clings to the im-pression that the ball is not deeply im-bedded, and is not likely to give serious trouble. It may turn up in the most un-expected situation. The splendid constitu-tion of the President, his regular habits, and the absence of vestiges of any compli-cating disease, leads the doctor to believe the wound will heal kindly.

Who Are Admitted to the Sick

Who Are Admitted to the Sick Room.

The only persons admitted to the President's room, besides the physicians and the nurses, are Mrs. Garfield, Gen. Swaim, Col. Rockwell, Dr. Boynton and Mr. William Grump. All stories from other parties of conversations with the President are without foundation. None of the President's children have been in the sick room since Friday last. They are, however, admitted Friday last. They are, however, admitted to the doctor's room and are always treated with the greatest consideration. The Situation To-day.

The situation To-day.

The situation at the Executive Mansion this morning, as described by one of the attaches, was "lovely." The President is getting better and stronger every day, and the physicians and friends are more confident than ever of his gradual restoration to health and strength. Evidences of Improvement.

As an instauce of his gain in strength, it is stated by one of his attendants that he is now able to move one leg over the other at will, and to fan himself whenever he feels so disposed. It was impossible for him to do this a few days ago. Scientific Experiment to Find the Ball.

Experiments are now being conducted in this city by Profs. Newcomb and Graham Bell with a view to attempting the discovery of the exact location of the ball in the President's body, by means of an electric current. Prof. Bell's invention—the induction balance—is the method to be applied. The inventor claims for it that it can establish balance—is the method to be applied. The inventor claims for it that it can establish an electric current with metal an inch or more beneath a subject's skin, and that the current will be recognized by meins of a telephone. Prof. Bell arrived in the city to-day to consult with Prof. Newcomb and begin the experiments. If they should prove successful, the practical application will be made in the President's case as soon as the physicians think him strong enough to bear the operation. to bear the operation.

What They Should Do With Guiteau District-Attorney Corkhill's mail brings him daily a mass of letters about Guiteau. Some are reasonable, while others throw out the queerest suggestions, and emanate principally from cranky brains. Here are some specimens. A card was received this morning in an envelope, postmarked Fairfield, Conn., and was as follows: HADES, VULGARLY CALLED HELL, July 12, 1881. Charles Guiteau, Theologian, etc.

If hornets drive the godless out,
And let God's people in,
If madman's pistol aid the same,
I ask where is the sin?

So says the immortal sage of Central Park, the mighty psychological motor of the Universe, Geo. Francis Train.
Yours truly. Diamous.
You should by all means embrace Cole Corkhill's kind offer to take you out riding. It would most likely lead to a closer acquaintance between us if possible.

Another letter to Col. Corkhill from Another letter to Col. Corkhill from Northeast Maryland, says:

Sm: I have a great interest in this man (or beast) Guiteau, particularly his appetite. Now sir, I propose to cut two ounces of desh from him every day and make him eat it; do so until he eats himself up. Then he will have a historical reputation as the man that shot a President and then eat himself up.

Yours with respect.

'He is Going to Get Well." The bulletin issued at 7 o'clock last evening stated that "the President has had less fever this afternoon than either yesterday (Tuesday) or the day before. He continues slowly to improve. Pulse, 100 temperature, 101.6°; respiration, 24."

tinues slowly to improve. Pulse temperature, 101.6°; respiration, 24. Dr. Bliss, in speaking of the President last evening, said: "Although he is not yet out of danger, I think it comparatively safe now to say that he will probably recover." After some further conversation, Dr. Bliss returned to the President's room, saying with a smile and a nod of the head as he closed the door: "He is going to get well." [Continued on 4th Page,]

CANADA'S APPRECIATION OF AMERICAN MANUFACTURES. — Sometime ago, the deputy postmaster-general of Canada inquired of Messrs. Woolworth & Gorhan, New York, contractors for the United States, to supply his government with 10,000,000 postal cards of the size and quality corresponding with the specifications in the form provided by our Government last April, with such variations in the plates as might be required to give them distinctive character as Canada postal cards. This matter was referred to Third Assistant Postmaster-General Hazen by the contractors, with the request that they be allowed to fill the order. Gen. Hazen to-day replied, saying: "Fam authorized by the Posmaster-General to say that he has no objection to the arrangement; provided, however, that they work shall be done under the supervision of the postal-card agent, and that it shall of the postal-card agent, and the postal-card agent, and the postal-card agent, and that it shall of the postal-card agent, and the postal-card agent, and the postal-card agent, and the postal-card agent, and the postal remaining only one day.
